Task Sheet No. 4:
CLASSROOM MANAGEMENT PLAN

INSTRUCTION:

As a pre-service teacher, you are tasked to develop a Classroom Management Plan that demonstrates your ability to establish a safe, inclusive, organized, and learner-centered classroom environment. Based on the needs of diverse learners and appropriate classroom management principles, prepare a practical plan that includes clear classroom rules and expectations, routines and procedures, strategies for promoting positive behavior and learner engagement, approaches for addressing challenging behaviors, and measures for maintaining a respectful and supportive learning environment. The output should demonstrate how your proposed strategies can effectively support learning, participation, and positive teacher-learner relationships in an actual or simulated classroom setting.

Note: This task would help you accomplish the INTENTIONS and WAYS FORWARD part of your lesson plan.

Activity 1: Complete the following table.

CLASSROOM MANAGEMENT	ACTION PLAN
1. Classroom Rules and Behaviors	Agree on clear rules with learners at the beginning of the term: • Show respect by listening, taking turns, and using respectful language. • Attend classes regularly and arrive on time. • Use of phones are prohibited unless it is used for learning activities when needed. • Keep the classroom clean before and after class. Dispose of rubbish around the classroom and arrange your chairs properly. • Submit your own honest work on time.

	• Apply rules consistently regardless of a learner's gender, background, language, or academic performance.
2. Teacher-student relationship	• Greet learners warmly and use their preferred names. • Invite questions during class and provide a way to ask for help. • Correct behavior calmly and, when possible, speak with the learner privately to avoid embarrassment. • Recognize learners' efforts, improvement, and helpfulness, not only high scores.
3. Classroom structure, design, and arrangements (consider the synchronous, asynchronous, and face-to-face setup)	Face-to-face: • Arrange desks in pairs or small groups when space allows. • Keep aisles and exits clear, and make sure learners can see the board and reach shared materials. • Adjust seating when needed to support visibility, accessibility, or focused work. Synchronous online: • Share the meeting link and learning materials in advance. • Set turn-taking expectations for speaking and chat responses. • Use low-bandwidth options where possible. Asynchronous: • Keep instructions, lesson materials, and submission links in one organized location. • Provide downloadable or printed materials when internet access or mobile data is limited. • State deadlines and submission instructions clearly.

4. Classroom safety rules and procedures	• Keep exits and walkways clear and explain the school's emergency and evacuation procedures. • Teach learners how to safely distribute, use, and return books, calculators, and other materials. • In online classes, remind learners not to share passwords, personal information, or classmates' photos without permission.
5. Inclusive classroom practices	• Give instructions orally and in writing, model accounting steps, and provide worked examples. • Explain key accounting terms in English, with Filipino or a familiar local language for clarification when helpful. • Use examples learners may recognize, such as a sari-sari store, carinderia, or local service business; use pesos in practice problems. • Offer different ways to participate, such as speaking, writing, or submitting a response online. • Rotate group roles so each learner can contribute. • Provide additional practice or appropriate accommodations based on learners' needs.
6. Strategies for rewards (positive behavior) and consequences (negative behavior)	Rewards: • Give specific praise for effort, improvement, respectful participation, and teamwork. • Recognize positive contributions through class acknowledgment, a note, or a rotating classroom responsibility. • Avoid recognizing only learners with the highest scores. Consequences: • Give a calm reminder, restate the expectation, and redirect the learner.

	• If the behavior continues, speak privately with the learner, listen to their explanation, and agree on a fair next step. • For repeated concerns, follow school policy and consult the appropriate school personnel. • For missed work, check whether access or other circumstances affected completion and agree on a catch-up plan. • Do not use public shaming or collective punishment.
7. Learning opportunities	• Use individual, pair, and group activities connected to everyday Philippine settings. • Assign group roles so each learner has a part. • Check understanding through short exercises, exit slips, quick oral questions, or practice problems. • Provide a printed or low-data alternative when needed.
8. Monitoring and reflection	• Keep a simple record of attendance, participation, task completion, and common accounting errors. • Use quick checks and learner feedback to find out which topics need more practice. • Review weekly whether the routines support participation and whether any learners are being left out. • Adjust seating, instructions, examples, or activities based on learners' needs. • Discuss continuing concerns privately with the learner and, when appropriate, with the cooperating teacher or family.
